

“Every client we work with needs a tailored approach for their specific needs, organization, or team. We use our custom S.O.A.R method to vet all plans, ensuring high productivity and organizational growth. Get ready to S.O.A.R to your Next Level.”

BIOGRAPHY

TINA E. GILBERT

Tina E. Gilbert is a distinguished Founder, Chief People Strategist, and Author, renowned for her expertise as an interactive workshop leader, facilitator, and leadership coach. With over twenty-five years of experience in the Human Resource industry, Tina hails from Little Rock, Arkansas.

She earned her bachelor's degree in business administration with a focus on Marketing from the University of Central Arkansas. Continuing her educational journey, Tina pursued a Master of Arts in Management Leadership at Webster University.

A perpetual learner, Tina is driven by a passion to help individuals discover and achieve their highest potential in life. In 2011, she realized her long-held dream with the establishment of Next Level Training Solutions Group LLC. This venture has evolved into a world-class business renowned for its innovative and high-quality training, workshops, and Human Resources services.

Tina is committed to delivering excellence and has successfully deployed her mission of providing top-notch services and programs that yield tangible results. She is the author of the groundbreaking book and journal, 'Next Level Thinking - 90 Days to Inspire Your Best Life,' showcasing her prowess in coaching and training. This accomplishment positions her as a formidable leader qualified to teach her course, 'How to Inspire Your Best Life.'

Tina's professional certifications include being a Certified Facilitator with Development Dimensions International, a Certified Facilitator Trainer with Achieve Global, and a Certified Trainer and Coach with The John Maxwell Team. Furthermore, she holds certifications as a Minority Business Enterprise with the State of Arkansas and a Women's Business Enterprise with the National Council. Additionally, Tina is certified in leadership coaching, specializing in Personal Leadership Effectiveness under the guidance of Dr. Ron Jenson.